Research and Development

While designing our car, we had to keep in mind weight, aerodynamics, structural integrity and looks in mind.

We went through several iterations and designs, each time changing the shape of the car or the nose cone, and sometimes even experimenting with the designs!

We even tested our cars in CFD and did aerodynamic runs making sure that (For example) there is no air getting caught up in any sector, and making sure the air can easily pass and the static pressure applied on the car was low.

Your sponsorship grants and help will go towards better testing and designing of the car. It will also go towards the sum of money we need to collect for the production of the car which shall race in the race.
